

CHRISTINE LANGFORD
PGA PROFESSIONAL
THORPENESS GOLF CLUB & HOTEL
SUFFOLK, ENGLAND

A founder member of the Ladies European Tour, PGA Honorary Member, Advanced Fellow of the PGA, Professional golfer since 1976.

Chris turned professional in 1976 to pursue a career as a tournament player. She was one of the first players to qualify to play on the US LPGA Tour. She is a founder member of the Ladies European Tour where she won 5 tournaments.

Chris became the first woman professional to be appointed as a Head Pro at a committee run members club in the UK when she was selected by Clevedon Golf Club near Bristol. Her other posts include Director of Golf at Castle Combe in Wiltshire, Director of Golf at the Desert Springs Golf Academy in Spain and Director of Golf at Abbotsley Golf Hotel in Cambridge.

During her coaching career, which has now spanned 4 decades, she has been county coach to no fewer than 8 counties, a regional coach for the English Ladies Golf Association and National Coach to The Welsh Ladies Golf Union for 7 years. In 2012 Chris was asked to assist in the preparation of the Curtis Cup Team prior to their match at Nairn against the Americans (which they won!).

Chris is now the head Professional at Thorpeness Golf Club & Hotel where she runs her ever-successful coaching business and whilst she still hosts events in faraway (usually sunny) places she is always happy to return home to Suffolk, she can usually be found coaching at the foot of the House in the Clouds, with her ever faithful "spaniel" Joe Cocker supervising the coaching!
